REVIEW OF THE LIFE OF CATHERINE MCCLEVE COOK RUSSELL John McCleve and Mary Jane McFerren,

the parents of Catherine McCleve Cook (third wife of Phineas Wolcott Cook) were

rine McCleve Cook Russell

Catherine McCleve was born September 17, 1836 in Crawfordsburn, Down County, Ireland, and was the second child born of these parents. When she was fourteen, she and her sisters Sarah, Margaret, and Mary Jane were baptized in the Irish Sea after dark on August 26, 1850.

ter accepting the Gospel, the McCleve family had a strong desire come to America. Although the father had a good job, the cost of moving the entire family to America at once was impossible for him to handle. For this reason, the Elders advised them to send their two oldest daughters, Sarah and Catherine, on ahead. The rest of the family were to remain in Ireland until sufficient means could be saved to finance the trip for them.

Consequently, Catherine, aged eighteen, and her sister Sarah, aged twenty, left Ireland on March 28, 1853, and set sail for America from Liverpool, England. They came to Utah with Captain John Brown's company. Both girls married before the year was out --Catherine to Phineas Wolcott Cook on December 18, 1853 in the Endowment House in Salt Lake City, and Sarah to John Young on October 3, 1853.

The day that Catherine married Phineas Wolcott Cook, he also married Amanda Savage. Because Amanda was six weeks older than Catherine, she became the second wife and Catherine the third. Phineas already had his first wife, Ann Eliza Howland, who had several children. Before Phineas took these wives, President Young had advised him to go into polygamy. He prayed sincerely over the matter until the Lord revealed the principle to him. On April 21, 1855, in Salt Lake City, Catherine's first child, a son, was born in a house that was about a block east of the Eagle Gate. He was named Joseph Wolcott Cook.

When Catherine and Sarah left their loved ones in Ireland in 1853, it was with the understanding that the rest of the family would follow as soon as they had the money to do so. After three long years, they received word that their parents and brothers and sisters were comng to America. How happy Catherine and Sarah were! By this time, therine had her son Joseph and Sarah had two young children, ydia and John McCleve Young. They looked forward with great anticipation to seeing their family, who in turn were very anxious to see them and their husbands as well as the new grandchildren.

A Message from your President

Dear Family Members:

It's a pleasure to greet you at the commencement of 1972. The family organization has made progress, and we hope to go forward in a manner that will be pleasing to each of you.

A primary responsibility of an organization as large as this one -- consisting of some 4,000 living descendants of Phineas Wolcott Cook (worldwide) -- is providing a means whereby we may feel a closer unity and a feeling of concern and appreciation for each other. Also, by banding together we can coordinate our resources and efforts in identifying our progenitors and disseminating the interesting information about their lives which has so directly affected our own persons and personalities, thoughts and actions.

We hope you enjoy this Newsletter and that you will sit down and drop us a line about yourself and contribute to the success of this great family.

Sincerely yours,

Dean S. Cook, President

PLEA FOR INFORMATION FOR NEWSLETTER

We regret that we haven't been able to print these newsletters every three months as planned, but we haven't been receiving enough news items from the individual families to do it.

Please report all births, marriages, deaths, job appointments, missions, honors, scholarships, etc. to the family organization to enable us to have interesting and informative newsletters every three months as originally planned.

FINANCES URGENTLY REQUIRED!

Thanks to those faithful family members who have paid their dues every year since our family organization came into existence. It is impossible to proceed with the publication of our Newsletter or with any other scheduled projects without these funds. Please mail your dues for 1972 ($7.50) if you haven't already done so, to the family organization as soon as possible. Remember that your dues and any contributions are tax-deductible, funds are urgently needed, and your thoughtfulness in this regard will bring blessings to our organization and to each individual family.

The family was with the Second Handcart Company. When the companies were within two days' travel of their destination, an emergency arose for the McCleves threatening the loss of all their worldly possessions as their handcart hung precariously on the edge of an embankment. The father, exerting every ounce of strength remaining in a body emaciated and weakened with the weeks of struggle pulling the handcart across the plains, tried too hard. He saved the cart and its contents, but he injured himself internally. After suffering severely for a few hours, he passed away on September 24, 1856.

On September 26, when the word came that the First and Second Handcart Companies were nearing the city, many people eagerly went to meet them. Among them were Catherine and Sarah. What a tremendous sorrow and disappointment it was to these girls when they found that two days previously their father had succumbed to the hardships of the journey and had been buried in a lonely grave near Bear River.

When Catherine's son Joseph Wolcott was about two years old, her husband with his family journeyed south. They settled in Payson, and it was while they were living here that Catherine procured a divorce from her husband. He moved on to Goshen where he was a great help in building up the settlement and presiding in the Church. Catherine and her son stayed in Payson with her family. Later, she and Joseph went to Parowan to visit her sister Mary Jane who had married Dr. Priddy Meeks. They were among the early settlers in that country. At the end of this short stay, she returned to Utah County with a man who was bringing to Salt Lake City the bones of President George A. Smith's son who had been killed by the Indians. Upon their return, Joseph went with his brother to his father's home where he stayed for six or eight months.

On November 11, 1862, Catherine married a man by the name of David Dudley Russell. In the spring of 1863, as she traveled with her husband to Salt Lake she stopped at the Cook residence and picked up her son Joseph and took him with her. On this trip, Catherine asked Joseph to call her husband "Father." Joseph was not too fond of the idea, but he consented and did so until his mother's death.

Russell did not own a home, so the family lived in rented houses in Payson and Salem (then called Pond Town). He and Joseph carried willows in their arms to make a willow fence around Catherine's garden.

The winter of 1864-65 was a hard one. Russell with some friends and his brothers moved to settle on the Sevier River at Salina. Soon after they arrived at Moroni, in Sanpete County, the Black Hawk War broke out. The Indians came down from Salina Canyon and drove off nearly all of the cattle and killed several men. Early one morning in April, Russell and Joseph arose very early to find a team of oxen that had been turned out to graze during the night. They had just returned home for breakfast when Catherine, who was going up the steps of their dugout or home, heard a man from across the street call out, "Into the houses, women and children; the Indians are onto us!" She looked, and there they came, a dozen or more of them. Some were on horses, but most of them were on foot. Moments later a shot rang out, and they knew that the sheepherder who had passed only a few minutes earlier with the sheep had been killed.

These were frightening days for Catherine and her family. In the different Indian raids that took place at this time, stock was driven away by the Indians, men were killed, and in some instances people disappeared and were never seen again.

They arrived in Salina in June, 1865. Shortly after this, teams came from the northern settlements to move the people back closer to the center of the Church. The Russells stopped in Gunnison until his brother Henry came and took them back to Payson where they lived for the next two years. Here Catherine's husband and son worked. They worked in the harvest fields and made adobes. Joseph worked and earned enough potatoes to last the family during the winter. In 1868, Russell went to Heneferville to work and took Joseph with him. He rented a farm, and after the crops were in, they went back to Payson for Catherine and her three other children--Hannah Jane, David Riley, and Margaret. Catherine had lost a child Sarah Catherine in the fall of 1867.

During the summer and fall, Russell frequently had business in Echo City. He often came home under the influence of liquor. This, of course, hurt Catherine very much. In November she became very ill. Joseph recorded in his autobiography that, "She was out of her head and seemed (as I look back on it now) to have an awful fever, which threw her into a state of delirium." There were no doctors in the area.

Russell made preparations to move her south. He fixed up a bed in a covered wagon and put Catherine and the children and the few things that could be hauled into it and started for Salt Lake City. They were two days and nights on the way. The weather was extremely cold. They stopped in Salt Lake for a day or so with Catherine's sister Sarah Young. Then, with the same outfit, they started south again. At American Fork, they stopped for a day or two with friends. While there, Catherine spoke her last conscious words. Her son Joseph was at her bedside, and she said to him, "Joseph, my son, would you be a good boy and take care of my children?" Joseph quickly promised her that he would.

A day or two later, Russell crowded Catherine and her children in the same rig and headed south again. They reached Spanish Fork about dark. Catherine died at the home of her sister Isabell Mott that evening December 19, 1869. She left three living children besides Joseph. The youngest was Margaret who was approximately sixteen months old.

Joseph returned years later and searched in vain for his mother's grave or a record of it.

The third annual Phineas Wolcott Cook Family reunion will be held at the Bountiful City Park August 12, 1972 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

This facility offers a grass-covered playground with equipment for young children, a ball diamond (also in grass), a swimming pool which opens at 10:00 a.m. and is free of charge to our group, and a large bowery where tables and seating are provided. Plans are underway to make this the most successful reunion yet. Please mark the date on your calendar and plan to attend.

A successful reunion was held last summer on the shores of Bear Lake and on the spot where Phineas Wolcott Cook allowed an Indian tribe to camp at one time. Those attending enjoyed visiting, swimming, and the boat rides provided by Dean S. Cook and Dave Jorgensen. About 160 people attended. It is hoped that many more than that number will come to renew acquaintances and meet new cousins at our coming reunion.

In addition to these other activities, each family segment will be electing the individual to represent their group in the family organization.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS FOR THE COOK FAMILY ORGANIZATION

Since Phineas Wolcott Cook had four wives, it is proposed that our Governing Board of Directors consist of four members-one represenative from each branch of the family. Our Central Committee appointed an acting Governing Board on January 22, 1972 to function until sustained or replaced by the individual families at our coming reunion.

Those appointed on January 22, 1972 as temporary representatives are:

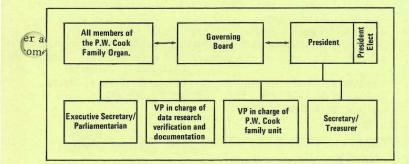

| Howland family | Vernon O. Cook      | Salt Lake City |  |  |
|----------------|---------------------|----------------|--|--|
| Savage family  | Lew Cook            | Logan          |  |  |
| McCleve family | Richard C. Cook     | Orem           |  |  |
| Palsson family | Clella C. Fluckiger | Salt Lake City |  |  |

In order to make your feelings known, give suggestions, etc. please communicate with your family representative.

For the present, at least, Dean Cook, president of our family organization, will function as chairman of the board. He will be called upon to vote in case of a tie of the members of the governing board.

Once again, the basic objectives of this organization are: (1) to research and document the genealogy of Phineas Wolcott Cook (a prerequisite to Temple work), and (2) to encourage solidarity of his descendents. Two vice presidents have been appointed to these specific assignments. They are Alton D. Cook of Brigham City, Utah, and Gene A. Cook of Salt Lake City, Utah. Nan Cook is the secretary/ treasurer. The positions of president-elect and executive secretary/ parliamentarian are presently vacant.

In our next Newsletter, we will continue this discussion, explaining and identifying the dedicated and talented researchers, leaders, and committeemen upon whom the actual accomplishment of our work depends.

WILFORD ULRICK FLUCKIGER

Wilford Ulrich Fluckiger was born at Bedford, Wyoming on June 17, 1903. He was the third son of Jacob Andrew Fluckiger and Barbara Baumgartner. He married Clella Cook September 9, 1925 in the Salt Lake Temple. He died November 9, 1971 in Salt Lake City.

He was a long time resident of Star Valley, Wyoming, and was owner and operator of the Valley Furniture Company for many years. After moving to Salt Lake about 15 years ago, he became a real estate broker. He owned and operated the U.S. Realty Company.

Wilford was always active in the L.D.S. Church and held many leadership positions including Sunday School superintendent, president of the Seventies quorum, and High Priest group leader.

Besides raising a large family of their own, Wilford and Clella added three adopted children to their group and opened their home to many foster children.

The last 18 months of his life were spent in the mission field in the Australia East mission. One of the highlights of the mission was the organizing of a Temple excursion, the undertaking of projects to finance it, and activating people to participate. Through the efforts of Wilford and Clella, 31 people made the trip from northern Australia to New Zealand at that time, and others who were unable to leave their work then are still sending in reports that they have now completed the trip, also.

According to the assistant to the mission president, Wilford and Clella also converted and baptized during their 18 month stay more people than are converted and baptized by 80% of the two-year missionaries.

Wilford is survived by his widow, 14 sons and daughters, 60 grandchildren, and 3 great grandchildren. Interment was in the Afton, Wyoming cemetery.

PROFESSIONAL RESEARCHER FOR FAMILY ORGANIZATION

The genealogical committee of the Phineas Wolcott Cook Family has secured the services of a professional researcher to conduct the research on all lines of the Cook, Howland, Savage, McCleve, and Po-(Pahlson) genealogy. He will study the records, set up the searches, and analyze the information that family members can find under his direction. He will correspond with other researchers at distant places if necessary.

This is a wonderful opportunity to get our research work done!! If you are near a branch library and would like to help with the research, please let us know and you can have the benefit of the services of this man to direct you. Those who are close enough to the Salt Lake Library please let us know of your interest, also. This organized work will eliminate the duplication that has taken place to such a great extent in our large family, yet will give each person the opportunity to do all he wishes in seeking information about our progenitors.

Some of you are already working on separate branches. If you wish the advice of our researchers, write to Rex Cook at Hyrum, Utah, or to the organization at Box 266, North Salt Lake, Utah 84054, and let the researcher know of your needs. Whether you need him or not, please let him know what you are doing and something of your progress. The work will not be taken from you, but you may be assisted by his advice.

This great project will take much time and money. If all dues are paid, the research will largely be paid for, but contributions will be greatly appreciated and wisely used.

Now is the time for all to join for "Many hands make light work."

Alonzo Howland Cook Families: Lashbrook, Edna, Alvira, Amy, Lon, Alonzo H., Hatty, Edith, Annie and Alfonzo.

Corrections to July, 1971 Newsletter

"Necessary Explanations" footnote on Phineas W. Cook family group sheet reads: "Sealing for all children approved by GS in 1942 and 1971." It should be corrected to read: "...1924..." instead of "...1942..."

Again, on the Phineas W. Cook family group sheet under "Temple Ordinance Data" column headed "Sealed (Date and Temple) Wife to Husband" the correct temple is "Logan" not "Ogden."
